Good ideas for families

Journey of discovery

Come with us ...

... on a voyage of discovery through Alpenwelt Karwendel.

This booklet contains loads of good ideas and practical holiday tips for you and your brothers and sisters, parents or grandparents. See for yourself how much there is to do in and around Mittenwald, Krün and Wallgau.

„Karwendelin“, the mascot for the children and family programme, will take you on a scavenger hunt through the booklet. There are a few nuts to crack along the way, so have fun figuring out the answers to the puzzles! Find them and get a little surprise from us.

So off you go on your journey of discovery and have a wonderful holiday in Alpenwelt Karwendel!

Alpenwelt Playgrounds

Do you like skimming stones on a lake and love playing hide-and-seek in the forest or splashing about in a stream? - Fantastic! There is loads of space for all of your nature adventures here.

Dam building in the isar river

A few big stones and some mud, gravel and branches in between - and your dam is finished. The Isar and Seinsbach are great water play areas. Some rare birds and plants are at home here too. So please be careful where you step!

Of course, we have great „proper“ playgrounds in Mittenwald, Krün and Wallgau too. You can really have a great romp around here:

Flößerspielplatz, Krün

Come with us and follow the trail of the ancient raftsmen („Flößer“)! The spot where they once went about on the banks of the Isar is a brilliant adventure playground today. There is a play raft, ropeway, climbing trail and even a BMX track for you to try out. You had better park your little brother or sister in the sand and mud area. Meet up with them again along the course of the stream at the water pumps.

Naturspielplatz, Wallgau

Start out on the high seas in the pirate ship, then off to the climbing wall! There is even one especially for the little ones. Thanks to the big trees, it is very nice here on hot days too.

Spielplatz Riedboden, Mittenwald

How about a trip along the Isar river? At the start and end of the route there is a large playground with a zip line, slides and more. Have fun!

Scavenger hunt 1

What colour is the Isar river in spring after the snow melts?

Excursion tip

How about a cycling tour from Wallgau to Walchensee, where surfers speed over the water and you can also enjoy a swim. Or call in to the Viking Film Village. Information on indoor pools is available on page 36/37.

Fun at the lakes

Onto the slide, get set, goooo!

Grubsee with its bathing area is a paradise for mermaids and mermen alike. In summer it reaches temperatures of up to 26 degrees, making it one of the warmest lakes here. Whiz down the winding water slide, plunge from the jetty, then rent a pedal boat... There's lots of fun at Grubsee.

You can also enjoy splashing about, diving or canoeing at many of the other small lakes in Alpenwelt Karwendel. Most of them are of drinking water quality and reach bathing temperature from June to September. You can reach many of them by taking the tourist bus free of charge.

Whether it's because of the impressive trout and white sand, flower meadows and the sound of goat bells or the steep cliff panoramas - each lake has its own unique attractions. This variety will enchant you all. The best thing is: There is a lake or stream along (almost) every cycle or hiking trail.

Luis, 7 years

What I love to do

I often go to Lautersee with my friends. We jump from the jetty and diving tower and play soccer on the meadow. Continue along the forest experience path to get there.

Hiking to the water spirits

Scavenger hunt 2

What was the name of the brown bear who was roaming around Alpenwelt Karwendel in 2006?

Did a bear live here once? The hike to the bear cave in Wallgau is definitely a small adventure. From the town centre along the little path to the hollowed-out rock in Witter, where a waterfall can be found nearby. Then let your imagination run free!

Come with us to the world of the gorge ghost!

Hexenkessel (the witch's cauldron), pools and torrents in the rocks - this is his fantastic realm in Leutascher Geisterklamm gorge. His legend will accompany you along metal walkways high above the roaring stream. Wander through the wild gorge to the 80 metre-high panoramic bridge on the border with Tyrol. What a force of nature!

Hiking along the water is amazing. For example, a moor spirit is said to hide in the Finz Gorge near Wallgau. Hikers and mountain farmers claim to have seen her here, even in trees. Perhaps you will discover the good-natured little spirit as you march through the gorge.

Hüttelbach Gorge is another great natural experience. Setting out from the banks of the Isar river in Krün, you will soon come to a climb along the cliff wall up to the viewing area.

Excursion tip

A hike through the roaring Partnach gorge in Garmisch-Partenkirchen is quite an adventure too.

Barefoot hiking

The mountains have lots of stories to tell, about ghosts, animals, glaciers and stones from the time of the dinosaurs. There is always something new to discover on the nine themed tours around Alpenwelt Karwendel: take a guess, solve a puzzle or try your luck at the long jump with the animals. The hiking will become a secondary matter.

There are three themes tours on Kranzberg. The mountain in Mittenwald is a real jack-of-all-trades.

Pinecones tickle your feet, then moss, bark and pebbles, and at the end, spring water. Of course there is usually a lot of giggling along the Mittenwald barefoot hiking route too. And at the very end you can splash about and play to your heart's content at the water station. But walking barefoot is also healthy: It makes you more agile and strengthens your muscles and joints, stimulates the heart and circulatory system and makes you tougher!

The barefoot path with its 24 stations starts at 1,223 metres next to Berggasthof St. Anton. The Kranzberg chair lift will take you right there. Refreshments are available and the panorama is a real stunner. So off with your shoes and socks and enjoy the free tickles!

All of the routes are available online in our tours module on our website. Convenient: Walking times and altitude profiles are provided as well as some special tips and huts along the way that serve delicious Kaiserschmarrn pancakes. Or get the „Stunning trails“ brochure, which is also a great guide.

Off to see the dwarves & crystals

Kinder
Club

Polishing stones, hiking, climbing, raft building - these and many more adventures can be experienced in the children and family programme. Simply ask at the tourist office or download the programme from the Internet! The schedule for the hiking bus is also available there; you can use it for free with your guest card (see page 20/21).

Yoo hoo! The Isar can flow as wildly as it pleases here with us.

The 25 info and play stations along the “Isar –Natur-Erlebnisweg” (Isar nature experience trail) in Krün allow you to discover so much about life in Bavaria’s third-largest river: plants, birds and more. Here you can feel, listen and tread your way through the water or watch the fish steps through a large viewing window.

Imagine: The ice age glacier that formed the Isar valley was around 2,000 metres in height! In doing so, it carried large rocks with it by the tonne, such as corals and mountain crystal. You will find some of them on the “Kieselsteinlehrpfad” (pebble experience trail) near Krün. Or collect your own treasures and polish them yourself at Haus der Steine in Krün.

Benedikt, 6 years

What I love to do

Do you like fairy tales? - I do. That’s why I like the “Märchenweg” (fairy tale tour) in Wallgau. I can meet the Frog King and Snow White there. Mum reads to me and often adds a little extra to the story. For example, Ludwig the fairy tale king also enjoyed spending time in the mountains here.

To the animals on the pastures

Pet goats, try fresh cheese or even stay on the mountain overnight? – A walk to one of the many mountain huts and alpine cabins in Alpenwelt Karwendel makes all of these things possible.

Relaxed hiking: With children, plan about one and a half times the recommended ascent and descent times. This leaves enough time for a drink and a snack and a chance to catch your breath. If you are staying overnight in the hut, you can experience the sunset on the mountain.

Scavenger hunt 3

The Soiernseen glisten above Krün. Bavaria's Fairy Tale King loved those lakes. What's his name?

Walking times, maps and places to take a break are included in the online tours module (see page 11) and the „Stunning trails“ brochure. Opening hours and contact details for the 80 huts and alpine cabins around Mittenwald, Krün and Wallgau are available at www.alpenwelt-karwendel.de/en/huts-alpine-cabins.

Maaah! - Over 100 goats with kids graze on the “Buckelwiesen” (hummock meadows) around Goas-Alm near Mittenwald. The farmer uses their fresh milk to make delicious chéese and even ice-cream. Try a taster as a snack or in the farm shop.

No bleating to be heard, just the sound of happy cow bells on the many pastures. The young cows are on summer holiday up here - just like you ;-). Around the alpine huts you can play catch in the meadows, count the cows or simply relax. In the meantime your parents can enjoy the view of the mountains.

Excursion tip

The “Eng Almen” in the Tyrol are just over an hour away. There is a real cheese dairy there and 600 year old sycamore maple trees. In the golden autumn days these trees are a spectacular view.

A walk on the wild side

Kinder
Club

Would you like to make your own cheese from fresh milk?
– Then sign up for the children and family programme at „Dreikäsehoch“! The “Bauernhoftour” is great too: On three farms, the farmers take you to see the animals, show you their work and how a milking machine works. There is also a quiz plus a certificate and medal at the end.

For horse riding we recommend the Schmalensee Stud, run by an experienced showjumper. And if you prefer your comfort, suggest a carriage ride to your parents! The carriage drivers often tell funny stories.

The tourist office (see page 38) will give you all the addresses and info on many other children’s programme activities. Find out more about holidays on a farm at <http://www.alpenwelt-karwendel.de/en/find-book>

You often see animals in Alpenwelt Karwendel, both on the mountain and in the valley. There are loads to be seen in August when the livestock is being driven down from the mountain. The cows and calves, as well as hundreds of sheep and goats, return from the summer pastures. When all the cows have returned safely from their mountain pasture, they will be decorated with flowers around their heads. There's plenty going on then!

Georg, 11 years

What I love to do

From the end of May to mid-August just before 5 pm, the cows walk from their pasture to the stalls in Krün to be milked. „Maxl“ is our village steer and he is the father of many of our calves.

Wildlife up high

Campion, gentian, globe flowers
... - It is so tempting to pick them, but they are the at their most beautiful in the meadow.
And maybe your campion is just the one that gives the sky-blue butterfly its favourite nectar.

Scavenger hunt 4

What colour is the snow grouse in the summer?

The Karwendel cable car gondola will take you to the kingdom of the chamois and snow grouse. Did a giant forget his telescope up there? - Bergwelt Karwendel near the mountain station really does look like this! Inside you will learn a lot about nature in the mountains and it even rumbles. Outside you can go for a comfortable hike on the panorama trail. Alpenpark Karwendel, where the eagles live, is just next door in Tyrol.

Excursion tip

A trip to the Zugspitze will take you high up too. Or even closer, to the Herzogstand, where Walchensee is at your feet.

At Innsbruck Alpine Zoo you can see bears, eagles, lynx and much more. The train runs every hour, direct from Mittenwald or Krün/Klais.

Do you know who whistles when there is danger and wears soft soles like climbing shoes on his hooves? - The chamois! It and other wild animals such as the rare sandpiper are at home in Karwendel. If you don't startle them and stay on the path, you will be helping to make sure they want to stay here.

With the Guest Card you will receive lots of discounts and can travel free of charge on the ski and hiking bus. In addition to this, if you stay for a minimum of 3 nights, one mountain or valley ride on the Kranzberg chairlift and one entrance to the Karwendelbad (indoor swimming pool) are free of charge.*

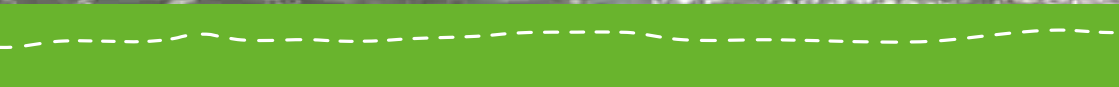

For more info please ask your host or visit www.alpenwelt-karwendel.de/en/visitors-card

* (except for closure and maintenance periods; Please note the final closure of Karwendelbad on November 7, 2016).

Wild water,

Strap in, take a run-up and go! It's all happening here on the Isar zip line. There is also a climbing tower, high ropes course and Tipi village on the premises at the Isarhorn.

cool climbing

Do you have a head for heights and steady feet? Then ask one of our mountain guides to go on a tour with you. You can learn safety techniques and tricks from him beforehand at the Isarhorn or at the climbing garden near Mittenwald.

Mountain guides and schools offer basic and introductory courses for the whole family, as well as hiring out equipment. The Mountain Rescue Team will show you their exciting work during workshops within the children and family programme.

Try some indoor climbing at the Isarena in Mittenwald. You can also climb at the Alpine Association's boulder hall or in the Climbing Forest in Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

This will put muscles on your arms... and it's fun too! - Trek rafts are small inflatable boats that can be used to raft down streams and rivers. From August to October you can give these agile little things a go. First you learn how to paddle properly and move safely on the water with the rafting school at Ferchensee. Then off to the Isar river.

Cycling and golf

Strength and stamina are a must in Alpenwelt. Here there are crisp trails, varied tours and a whole lot of mountain bike fun. Grit your teeth in the Karwendel valley and follow the trail of the Transalp crack riders. Or cycle from one lake to another and reward yourself with a cool drink at an Alpine cabin!

Play a relaxed game of golf in Wallgau. Karwendel Golf Club offers introductory and family deals on its nine-hole course, along with an awesome panorama.

For more ball games, such as tennis or football, simply ask at the tourist office. They will also be able to tell you where the next summer toboggan run is.

Good preparation is everything. The cycle schools in the region provide helmets, rental bikes, technical training and guided tours. Find tips for your bike tours in our tours module on our website and in the brochure “Get on your Bike” - free of charge, of course.

What I love to do

In the evening I like to meet my friends on the "Spielgolf" course in Mittenwald. It's a mixture of regular mini golf and golf. Each of the 18 holes is a little different, with obstacles made of stone, wood or sand. It's great fun.

Little snowflakes love to land in Alpenwelt Karwendel.
Then it's time to head out into the snow and ... ski!

This is a cinch at Kranzberg Ski Paradise. First, get used to the two boards in the kid's park. Then one of the seven lifts will bring you closer to the magic carpet - on lovely wide pistes. They are covered in artificial snow if Mr Frost is not in town. You can take a break at the many cabins, alpine huts and inns around Kranzberg. And if you would like to try mountain climbing on skins, take the easy ski tour route on Kranzberg!

You'll have great fun as a beginner too by the Barmsee ski lift near Krün. Whether it's your first time on skis or you want to pick up some cool skiing or snowboarding tricks, learning is fun at the three ski schools in Alpenwelt Karwendel.

Guest card holders use the ski and tourist bus free of charge. (see pages 20/21).

Out into the snow

Then onto the sled, get set, goooo! -

Fly like the wind around fast bends to the valley. The Kranzberg chair lift goes to 1200 metres, right to the start of the toboggan run. Or would you prefer to go up on foot? - great. Thanks to a separate ascent path, not only is this sunny run fast, it's also safe for children. Sleds can be hired at the valley station. There are some cool bob runs in Krausegarten and Puit in Mittenwald too.

Josi, 5 years

What I love to do

I love tobogganing in my minibob at Witter in Wallgau or Bärnbühl in Krün. We build our hills and Daddy takes funny photos - it's so much fun!

Cool on the snow and ice

Do you know “Lena” Neuner? This nice biathlon star from Wallgau has won many gold medals at the Olympics and World Cups. Even as children, she and her team mate Martina Beck whizzed along the cross-country ski trails in Alpenwelt Karwendel; so let’s get going, just like Lena and Martina: Off we go!

Scavenger hunt 5

What is the full first name of our biathlon star from Wallgau?

You can ice-skate or play ice hockey on three natural ice rinks in Krün, Klais and Wallgau as well as at Mittenwald Arena. The Bavarians love Bavarian curling even more. Whoever is closest to the target - the „Daube“ - wins. Parents can try out this sporting fun three times a week, children can test their skills during the children's programme.

The EV Mittenwald ice-hockey games can get really heated. Make sure you get tickets when they are playing during your holiday!

The ski schools provide useful tips on proper skiing technique. The stars of tomorrow often train at the biathlon facility in Kaltbrunn near Krün. Whether it's the „sporty trail“ there or the further 145 kilometres of cross-country skiing that you are looking for, you will find it at www.alpenwelt-karwendel.de/en/cross-country-ski-run-and-piste-reports

On winter's trail

Find more ideas for your winter holidays in the “Magic Alpine World” brochure.

The snow grouse has some super tricks up its sleeve for surviving in the deep snow of the high mountains. Thanks to the feathers on its feet, it can run as if it is wearing snow shoes, for example. Come and visit it at „Bergwelt Karwendel“, a nature exhibition right next to the Karwendel cable car mountain station.

There you will also learn about other animals in the mountains and look 1300 metres (!) down into the Isar valley from the panorama window. With eagle eyes and a little luck, you will spot one of the perfectly camouflaged snow grouse on the panorama trail.

A torchlight hike by night is also fantastic (see children and family programme). Tramp through the woods in winter with other children and parents until you come to a cosy cabin. Or maybe you would prefer a sleigh ride? Wrapped up nice and warm with bells ringing as you pass the „Buckelwiesen“ (hummock meadows). They look funny in winter, like giant white pillows on the landscape. And there is still time for a proper snowball fight afterwards.

Kinder
Club

Shhhh! Be very quiet when the stag and doe are at the feeding station. Experience red deer up close on a guided hike through the winter forest. Please note: This is only suitable for children over the age of 6. Kindly register at the tourist office one day before.

Andreas, 7 years

What I love to do

Do you like dogs too? Huskies are my favourites with their ice-blue eyes. Like many other dogs, they come to the international sled dog race in Wallgau every winter. Oh boy, they're fast!

Music, traditions and Bavarian life

You often hear both robust brass music and delicate violin tones in Alpenwelt Karwendel. Here, almost everyone learns an instrument and plays in a music band. And in Mittenwald they have been making violins for over 300 years. Call in to the demonstration workshop at the violin-making museum!

Excursion tip

A trip to the royal castles of Ludwig II of Bavaria is a real fairy tale experience: Neuschwanstein, Hohenschwangau and Linderhof with its Wishing Table and the Venus Grotto.

Scavenger hunt 6

What are the names of the carnival figures who wear wooden masks in Alpenwelt Karwendel?

There are loads of festivals and customs all year round in Mittenwald, Krün and Wallgau. The Maschkera gets things started. These old carnival figures are steeped in lots of exciting stories. In the spring, boys erect May poles which is celebrated with dancing. In the summer, bonfires are lit up in the mountains and entire families mow their fields in the traditional way. In the autumn, lively celebrations are held when the cattle are brought down from the mountain.

Find out what's on where at www.alpenwelt-karwendel.de/en/events-bavaria

Korbinian, 10 years

What I love to do

We love to wear our traditional costumes from a very young age: Boys wear the green embroidered 'Lederhosen' and a hat, girls wear a 'Dirndl' dress with their hair tied up in plaits. Join us at the traditional evenings to experience the music, costumes and dance live.

Got all the answers?

Did you finish the scavenger hunt and find all of the answers? –
Super! Please fill them in below.

Then transfer all letters marked in green into the text on the right, and hey presto, you already have the solution. Please enter the solution on the following page, cut it out and bring it to one of the tourist offices (see pg. 38) to collect a little surprise from us. Have fun!
